The journal publishes several types of article, including:

Feature Articles and Target Articles: Article submissions to the journal should normally be fewer than 8,000 words and should include an abstract of fewer than 100 words. Target Articles differ from Feature Articles in that Target Articles are opened to wider comment from the peer community. Authors do not need to specify whether they are submitting a Target or a Feature Article though they are welcome to nominate their submission for either category. If the editors determine that an article is appropriate as a Target Article they will then query the author(s) to secure permission to move forward with the article as a Target Article, at which point, the article is distributed widely to solicit proposals for open peer commentary.

Open Peer Commentaries: For each issue of the journal, the editors solicit commentary from the academic community on a Target Article, or sometimes in reaction to a timely issue, such as a meeting of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change. Within a designated timeframe, potential commentators must submit a short summary (no more than 150 words) explaining what they intend to cover in their Peer Commentary. Based on the content of these proposals, select authors are then invited to write short 750-1500 word responses which are published simultaneously with the lead Target Article.

If you would like to be considered as a peer commentator for some future article, please contact our editorial assistant, Sarah Erskine: sarah.e.erskine@gmail.com, as well as our Managing Editor, ethicspolicyenvironment@gmail.com, to have your name added to our mailing list. Please explain in the e-mail that you would like to be considered as a future peer commentator, in which case, the editorial assistant will send an advance version of the article.

Notes and Comments: Shorter notes and comments should be restricted to a maximum of 2,000 words. Please specify in your cover letter that you are submitting a note or a comment.

Critical Review Essays: Like an encyclopedia entry, a critical review essay may address a topic of critical interest to readers of the journal by offering an overview of a number of books on the same topic. Critical Review Essays should be fewer than 4,000 words and are subject to peer review.

Book and Media Reviews: Book and media reviews should range from 500 to 2,000 words. Books and media reviewed should have direct relevance to questions at the intersection of ethics, policy, and the environment. Please contact the book editor if you have a suggestion for or are interested in writing a book review.

Formatting Instructions: All material should be typed with standard paper dimensions and should be double-spaced. Papers should not contain references that identify the author. Please list on a separate page the name(s), address(es), and email address(es) of the author(s), as well as the paper's title.

References should be listed at the end of the manuscript, should be given in as full a form as possible, using first names of authors where used in the original, and adopting the following format:

Titles of journals should not be abbreviated. Footnotes should be kept to an absolute minimum, but where used they should be indicated by superscript numbers in the text. Spellings in either UK or US English are acceptable.

Illustrations. All maps, diagrams, charts and photographs should be referred to as Figures, and should be numbered in consecutive order using Arabic numerals. Artwork must be submitted in suitable condition for publication, in black on good quality white paper. Captions for Figures... should be typed in numerical order and should be presented separately from the text. All Tables should be presented in finished form, typed and ruled, with dimensions no larger than an A4 page. They should be numbered using Arabic numerals.

Equal Opportunities and Refereeing. The Editorial Board supports a policy of equal opportunities and opposes both direct and indirect discrimination. Its editorial actions with respect to material submitted to the journal will seek to reflect this policy. All articles published in this journal undergo a rigorous selection process based on initial editor screening and double blind peer review.

Proofs will be sent to the first mentioned author of each article accepted for publication. They should be corrected and returned to the publisher within three days. Major alterations or revisions cannot be accepted.

Free article access: Corresponding authors will receive free online access to their article through our website (www.informaworld.com) and a complimentary copy of the issue containing their article. Reprints of articles published in this journal can be purchased through Rightslink® when proofs are received. If you have any queries, please contact our reprints department at reprints@tandf.co.uk

Copyright: It is a condition of publication that authors assign copyright or license the publication rights in their articles, including abstracts, to Taylor & Francis. This enables us to ensure full copyright protection and to disseminate the article, and of course the Journal, to the widest possible readership in print and electronic formats as appropriate. Authors retain many rights under the Taylor & Francis rights policies, which can be found at www.informaworld.com/authors_journals_copyright_position.

As an author, you are required to secure permission if you want to reproduce any figure, table, or extract from the text of another source. This applies to direct reproduction as well as "derivative reproduction" (where you have created a new figure or table which derives substantially from a copyrighted source).
